Education

I am currently pursuing a B.Tech at NIST, where I am developing both my technical and creative skill sets. My academic journey began at K.C. Public School, where I completed my 10th and 12th, building a strong foundation in problem-solving, analytical thinking, and communication. Alongside formal education, I have consistently explored creative fields like graphic design and digital media, combining technical knowledge with visual storytelling.

Experience

I have hands-on experience in graphic design and visual content creation, focusing on creating clean, modern designs that communicate ideas clearly and effectively. My work includes designing social media creatives, posters, and branding materials that help pages and small brands improve their online presence. I also have experience with content layout, typography, and visual hierarchy, ensuring designs are both eye-catching and functional. Through these projects, I've developed a strong understanding of audience-focused design and how visuals can drive engagement.
